Andre's Case Is A Sensation THE WHOLE TOWN'S TALKING A SUNSET IS WITNESS FOR DUKE ANDRE

BERT TAYLOR

Put all the electric and telephone wires underground.

If it's all done at once, it may be accomplished at reasonable cost, for around $12 per house which might mean a $1 increase monthly in rates for the space of a year. But I believe if sufficient pressure were brought to bear the companies would put the wires underground themselves. In the long run it would be to their advantage since the present upkeep on the wires is high.

It would make the town so much more attractive that the actual value to the entire community would be inestimable.

BYINGTON FORD

I should like to see a sense of humor in both local papers.

DR. JAMES E. CROWTHER
Pastor, Church of the Wayfarer

I should like to see a more constructive programs started in Carmel; do away with this clinging to the skirts of "the dear dead days beyond recall." For instance, instead of forbidding the cutting down of trees, let there be a law passed stating that for every tree removed, two must be replanted in some other spot.

I would also like to see an art commission created to pass on the color, design, type of architecture of every building to be constructed in Carmel.

MRS. JACK ABERNETHY

I would like to have a committee appointed to confer with, and under the sponsorship, of the city council to keep the new smaller homes in the traditional style of Carmel architecture.

SAIDEE VAN BROWER

City Clerk

Re-forest the town.

The trees are what make Carmel famous but if we don't look out they'll all be gone. Every time a tree is cut down, the adjoining property owner pays $5 to cover the cost of removal and also the planting of a new tree. I can't, however, see that this latter is being done.

We ought to have a pine tree to hide the unsightliness of every telephone pole.

With the rains beginning, this is the time to plant trees. I think the city ought to go around and find all the good spots for them right now. Putting three trees back where they used to grow by the Bank of Carmel at Dolores and Seventh would improve the looks of the whole town.

ADOLF LAFRENZ

The newspapers should stop attacking people so much. They should devote more space to constructive projects and to people who are improving the town.

The papers should praise the people who do things.

OTTO W. BARDARSON
Superintendent of Schools

I would like to see Mr. Fortier modify his lights as a gracious gesture to the community.

MRS. JOSEPH W. STILWELL
As a family we're against that drug store. It's an insult to Carmel.

I feel also that the signs on the stores could be more attractive. Severs, for instance, has a very nice one.

WINSOR JOSSELYN
I should like to see some of this heavy traffic taken off Ocean avenue. Why it's getting so a man can hardly read his mail in the middle of the street without getting run down!

MRS. HELEN C. CRANSTON
President, Carmel Women's Club
If Ocean avenue is going to be a great white way, why not call it Broadway?

ZENAS L. POTTER

There should be a citizens' committee of 50 to preserve Carmel's charm. I should also like to see Mr. Fortier dim his lights and change his sign.

CORUM JACKSON
President, Monterey Peninsula Realty Board

There's nothing I'd like to see better than to have the priority ban lifted from Carmel.

PON CHUNG

Think rents ought to come down. Everybody scared away now.

DOC STANIFORD

I would like to see Carmel as it was 17 years ago; natural, no commercialism, charming background, charming people. It's something we're losing fast.

FRED BECHDOLT

Abolish all changes of any kind made since 1910.

MRS. LOUIS C. RALSTON
President, Carmel League of Women Voters

Carmel needs a little more cooperation motivated by friendliness. Everyone has thought he could do as he wished in Carmel but after all this is a community.

I would like to see Carmel changed back to where it was 12 years ago.

PETER WOLFF

What this town needs is a good psychical research society composed of a group of reasonably intelligent, non-fanatical persons, to impartially investigate various types of modern phenomenon.

MRS. VERA PECK MILLIS

Take the bright lights away. As Carmel grows I would like to see it follow the tradition set by its founders of being a refuge from commercialism.

B. G. NEWELL
Highlands Station Operator

Take the women out of the barber shops and bars so a man can get a haircut and a drink of whiskey again.

And something else I think ought to be changed is all this talk about Old Carmel. That's gone and we might as well realize it and enjoy the New Carmel.

MRS. A. P. FRASER

Bring back the old Carmel atmosphere—that intangible something that gave the village its charm and outstanding selling point.

MRS. PETER BURK

It is not so much a question of changing the physical aspect of the town as of going back to the old spirit of Carmel with people being interested in what the other fellow was doing and of everyone helping everybody else.

You can't stop a town from growing but you can welcome the new people and help them to feel that they are part of the community and perhaps help them to understand Carmel as it used to be.

P. A. McCREEERY

Councilman - Street Commissioner
I should like to see a change in people's attitude; their attitude toward cooperation, toward everything concerning the village.

BERNARD BOWNTREE

City Councilman and Police Commissioner

Really the only thing wrong with Carmel is apathy.

We can't get the streets fixed until we have storm drains and people wouldn't vote for the taxes just the way they wouldn't vote for a city hall. Take Fortier's: They could cure that over night if they wanted to.

Traffic, storm sewers, no city hall, Fortier's, they're all the same—apathy!

MARY E. BULKLEY

My gift to Carmel would be a sense of civic responsibility.

BILL BURKE

Last Tuesday, Duke C. Andre stood trial in Monterey Justice Court for the alleged theft of some lumber, nails and a wheelbarrow, stolen from a partly constructed house in Carmel Valley. The charge was two counts of petit theft, with a neat little burglary charge, carrying a possible sentence from one to ten years as a rider.

The first morning was concerned with the selection of a jury, from which most Carmelites were excluded.

The first witness to be examined by Assistant District Attorney Gordon Campbell, was Deputy Sheriff William F. Gleeson Jr., who told of searching the Andre ranch and there discovering the disputed lumber, nail kegs and wheelbarrow from the incomplete Eddy job in Carmel Valley.

Harold Geyer and two foremen on his construction jobs followed on the stand. They gave good and sufficient, though somewhat technical reasons for thinking that the materials offered as court exhibits might have been those stolen.

Ralph O. Marrot, defense counsel for Duke Andre, repeatedly conceded all possible points to the prosecution, including the fact that the lumber, nails and wheelbarrow might very probably be stolen goods. The defense, however, contended strongly that those features which distinguished these articles from all others would not be of the sort to meet (Continued on page 4)

The latest addition to the lollipop lickers set is FRIAR TUCK Farrington, the handsome young Pomeranian recently adopted by Miss Frances Farrington of Hatton Fields. TUCKY, as his friends fondly call him, is quite a boy and as full of good humor and fun as his namesake. And smart, too, already he is making up his own tricks and games to amuse himself.

Although TUCKY is still very young he has a wonderful personality and a warm, friendly smile. People like him immediately. He smiles at them and makes a bit of pleasant conversation and they are won completely.

TUCKY is going to give the local beaux some pretty stiff competition in a year or so, but definitely.

That dark and dashing gentleman, COLONEL MAC McGILLICUDY Cummings certainly does get around. He was at Fort Lewis with his master and mistress, Major and Mrs. Richard W. Cummings, when Major Cummings was ordered to Alaska. So COLONEL McGILLICUDY came to Carmel to visit his master's mother, Mrs. George A. Cummings. He had scarcely settled himself here when his master sent for him. Mrs. Cummings drove him to San Francisco. There he took a train to Seattle and then boarded a ship for Anchorage. Finally he arrived in Alaska, but he didn't like it there so he persuaded his master to send him back to Carmel.

So COLONEL McGILLICUDY boarded a ship for Seattle and came the rest of the way from there by Express. But he forgot to wire Mrs. Cummings that he was coming, and when he finally arrived at the Express office in Carmel, there was no one to meet him—Mrs. Cummings had gone out of town.

Poor COLONEL McGILLICUDY was sitting there looking as mournful and sad as only a Cocker can look, when in came a very charming couple to call for an Express package. They saw COLONEL McGILLICUDY, heard his sad story, and were completely won by his sorrowful expression. They insisted on taking him home to stay with them until Mrs. Cummings returned. COLONEL McGILLICUDY accepted their invitation and had a lovely time.

Now Mrs. Cummings is home again and COLONEL McGILLICUDY is established there as more or less of a permanent fixture. (At least that beautiful little Scotty across the street hopes so. The COLONEL certainly has a way with him.)

One of Carmel's loveliest ladies, MISCAN (PINKBOW) Fraser, renowned for her Victorian charm, has gone Wild West! And with a vengeance!! On her famous beribboned topknot she now sports a red feather. Around her slim throat she wears a buckskin collar, elaborately trimmed with beautiful bead-work. And to top it all off, this dainty little feminine creature eats bull meat—raw. The idea of MISCAN Fraser, the epitome of femininity, suddenly turning into "Belle Starr, the "Bandit Queen", is just too, too incredible. And yet it is absolutely true. The red feather, MISCAN explains, is for that most worthy cause, the Community Chest. The handsome collar is a gift from Chief Red Eagle, famous Indian scout now making his home in Carmel. And the bull meat is her beauty secret. It gives her those extra vitamins that everyone is acquiring these days. This is one of those amazing metamorphosis that has to be seen to really be appreciated.

Those two extremely attractive white French poodles seen about the village in the company of a beautiful red-head are none other than GOGO and CLIQUOT Garson—and the beautiful red-head is their mistress, Greer Garson of the movies. It seems the three of them have been frequent visitors in the village and have found it so enchanting that Miss Garson has purchased a home at Pebble Beach.

GOGO and CLIQUOT, though they look very dramatic and glamorous, really love village life and are so happy to be able to get away from the mad, mad whirl of the film capital. You probably will see them any day now, dressed in Peasant outfits but still looking glamorous and dramatic, trotting up and down Ocean avenue, trading gossip with JERRY Hefling and MICHAEL Baker, and other well-known canine characters.

Mr. Potter Goes to Washington

Zenas L. Potter of Carmel will leave in about two weeks to take up his duties as a member of the Advisory Board of the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply in Washington, D. C.

About his new appointment, Potter said, "I have long felt that there was need for more energetic management of defense production, and Leon Henderson, head of Price Administration and Civilian Supply is a member of the seven-man board in charge of this job. He is also one of a limited number of men with steady contact with the President. I hope I may be able to serve the government well in this present great emergency."

The Potters are not leaving Carmel for good. They intend to return to their home in La Loma Terrace as soon as the present emergency is over.

During the first World War, Potter held the Washington position of assistant director of the Central Bureau of Planning and Statistics, which prepared confidential reports for the president on the progress of war activities. This work gives him the background needed to fill the present position. He has also had great experience in the manufacturing, newspaper and advertising fields.

Members of the Bundles for Britain are having a card party at La Ribera Hotel on Nov. 5th, at 2 o'clock. Tea will be served at 4 p.m. Admission is 50 cents. For more information, call 1848.

By MRS. WALTER J. BARRY

When junior asks you a perplexing question or to help him solve a difficult bit of ethics do you face the situation with a reasonable degree of assurance and understanding or do you settle it with the time-honored solution, 'Ask your mother'?

No longer can father and son difficulties and differences be settled by a conference in the woodshed. We no longer have woodsheds. No. Fathers today must be equipped to meet problems in adolescent rearing in a modern manner. Age-old and stream-lined questions alike must be considered in an enlightened judgment by both parents. It isn't fair to leave all the "figuring out" up to the "little woman." After all she's pretty busy, too.

It's up to you, Dad, to come out from behind that newspaper.

Come over to Sunset school next Tuesday night at 8 o'clock to a meeting that is being held especially for fathers. Hear Nelson B. Sewall of Salinas Junior High School speak on 'Characteristics of Adolescence.' He is a man who thoroughly knows teen-agers and their problems and what parents can do about them. He will answer your questions. It may be just the help you need.

And sh—there will be refreshments afterwards.

Poet Ralph Cheyney Dies on Lecture Tour

Dr. Ralph Cheyney, well-known poet, lecturer and author, passed away recently after an emergency operation while on a lecture tour in the Magic Valley of Texas. He was ex-curator of the Avalon Poetry Shrine of San Antonio, and was recently awarded a Litt. D. degree as poet and teacher of poetics. An article about him by a poet friend will appear in The Pine Cone in the near future.

One of Dr. Cheyney's poems, "Comrade, It's the Cargo That Counts", was in The Pine Cone's Poetry column on page six of last week's issue.

Wolo Will Autograph His Book at Elder Galleries, S. F., Tomorrow

Wolo will be at the Paul Edler Gallery in San Francisco this Saturday afternoon at 2:30, to autograph copies of the extraordinary book for children he has recently designed and written.

The book is called "Amanda," and was published by William Morrow & Co., of New York, and all ages, from six and up, should hear Wolo himself tell the story and see him sketch the character. The publishers defy anyone under 108 to find this book dull.

Wolo was staff artist for The Pine Cone during the summer of 1940, and, after leaving Carmel in the fall, went to Palo Alto, where he conceived the idea of "Amanda." Last winter, it was brought to the attention of Thayer Hobson, president of William Morrow & Co., who realized at once he had made a "discovery."

COME ON! SPOOK UP! WHICH WITCH IS WHICH

The only thing wrong with Hallowe'en in Carmel is that it's almost impossible to tell the hobgoblins and the wicked old witches from some of the village "characters."

The only real way to find out which witch is which, is to offer it a zombi; if it asks the zombi for a date, it's a witch, if they drink it, it's a Carmel cracked cranium cutie.

Tonight on this Hallowed Even, when the little village bread-snatchers go forth on their innocent nocturnal knockings, their grimy little hands filled with the harmless tools of mischief (a cake of soap, an innocent egg, a tired piece of fruit, a wicked set of brass knuckles, and a small sub-machine gun) remember that the only reason you aren't out having a good time is because, despite everything your parents tried short of infanticide, you grew up, and grown-ups aren't supposed to have fun on Hallowe'en.

That great big bunch of burly bum beaters, known as the Carmel police, warn that while they want everyone to have a good time, they won't stand for vandalism or destructiveness of any sort. This means, among other things, the throwing of fruit, including hen fruit.

The whole force will work Friday night, and there will be at least eight extra officers working under the ominous title of "plain clothes men."

Casting a furtive eye for kiddie culprits will be: Roy Walls, Marvin Wermuth, Clarence Castro, William France, Harvey Garrison, Mitty Tobiasen, Orval Butts, Cedric Rowntree, Woffard Dunfur and Louie Davidson.

These boys aren't taking on such a harrying job because they particularly enjoy juvenile blitz, but because the tempting bait in the shape of three one dollar bills is enough to lure anyone anywhere.

Freshly deputized, everyone will work from 7 p.m. until whenever the small, sawed-off Baby-face Nelsons bury the last body and crawl wearily into bed.

Markham Johnston to Enter Corpus Cristi

Midshipman Markham Johnson, son of Mrs. Gladys Johnston, will leave on Nov. 6, for Corpus Cristi, the well known naval air base, where as a cadet, he will continue the training started at the Oakland airport.

Johnson was in primary training at Oakland only a short while when he was made commander of his school. He has also stood well up at the top of his class since he first entered in September.

On Saturday, Mrs. Johnston will go to Oakland to attend the ceremonies to be given for the opening of a new air base.

Warren, Markham's brother, who has been attending the University of California, has left school to prepare to seek entrance into the Naval air corps also.

The California State Nautical Corps, commanded by Lt. Allen Knight, is looking for 25 new members. This organization has a brand new emblem, distinguishing it from other outfits—a shield of gold and silver braid with anchor through it.

A Message to You

from the Secretary of the U. S. Navy

"Never in the history of the United States has there been a greater opportunity for loyal young Americans to serve their country and build their own future than right now," says Secy. Frank Knox. "Today your country is engaged in an all-out effort to build a two-ocean Navy — the mightiest the world has ever known.... Battleships, destroyers, cruisers, aircraft carriers — every ten days a new warship slides down the ways. And every new ship offers countless new opportunities to red-blooded Americans." What are these opportunities? Here are ten of them:

Training Worth $1500

The U. S. Navy offers you technical training in nearly 50 trades and vocations, worth at least $1500 the first year. You can become an expert in radio, aviation, electricity, diesel engines, and many other well-paid trades at absolutely no cost. The Navy gives you good pay (and keep) while you learn.

Steady Pay Guaranteed!

No layoffs...no seasonal slumps...no pay cuts when you're with the Navy. The Navy guarantees you a generous pay envelope twice every month in the year.

Regular Pay Increases

You can be sure of steady pay increases up to $126 a month...with plenty of opportunity for additional allowances and promotions as you go along. Your income can increase six times during your first enlistment.

All Living Expenses Paid

In your present job you must use your income to pay for food, rent, education, travel, entertainment, and savings for the future. ALL THESE THINGS ARE FREE TO NAVY MEN. Your pay is your own to use in any way you please.

Free Medical and Dental Care

Unexpected sickness, expensive doctor's and dentist's bills can take a big slice of your civilian income. But not in the Navy! This is one worry you can avoid, one emergency you never have to save for. Navy men get the best of medical and dental care absolutely free.

Retirement Incomes

In the Navy you'll never have to worry about your future. If you stay in the Navy, you'll never have to scrimp and save for your old age. When you become eligible for retirement (sometimes as early as age 37), the Navy guarantees you a monthly income for life.

By enlisting now you may have

for every machine

SPENCER'S HOUSE OF CARDS

the opportunity to attend the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis...or the opportunity to become a Commissioned Officer in the Naval Reserve...or the opportunity to become a Naval Aviator.

Fun and Recreation

Where else can you lead the regular, healthy life that the Navy offers you? Ashore or afloat, you get year-round competition in boxing, wrestling, swimming, baseball, football, and other sports. You associate with the finest group of men in the world. You use Navy equipment free. And you enjoy regular entertainment of all kinds plus the latest movies.

Travel and Adventure

Naval maneuvers take U. S. ships all over the world — Alaska, Hawaii, the Philippines, North and South America. You get regular shore leaves in adventurous foreign ports.

Chance to Serve Your Country

No other calling gives a red-blooded young American so great a chance to serve his country. No other career offers him so great an opportunity to build a successful future.

Yehudi Fiddles While Papa Burns

Yaltah is married! But Papa and Mama Menuhin—they don't talk about that.

Hoping to be near her new husband (Private Benjamin Rolfe of Fort Ord) after her sudden and parent-permissionless marriage, Yaltah, youngest member of the incomparable, erratic, brilliant, child-prodigy Menuhins, has taken a house somewhere in the village.

The incurably romantic mind of the nation was fired at the elopement of "Yehudi's sister" with a "boy in uniform", and everyone was quite happy over the event—well, not quite everyone.

Papa Moshe Menuhin, who is in the news more than any righteous publicity hater should be, claims: "It is so unfortunate that such private family matters had no way of remaining private."

And while he generously concedes "Our home in Los Gatos is of course always open to our daughter and her husband . . ." he puts his parental frowns into print by quoting, "As parents, we of course naturally, had the full right to expect of any mature and responsible man of 27, who is in the midst of serving the army, and who is totally unknown to his bride and her parents—to have imposed upon himself a rigid discipline of patience and loving kindness towards his sweetheart, and wait with the marriage until he could offer her some sort of a home, somewhere, somehow, in civilian life . . ."

Still under the watchful eyes of Papa and Mama, Yaltah has been established by them "in a nice little place she chose in Carmel . . ." and she "seems to be very happy". Ah love! Ah nuts!

A Sunset Is Witness For Duke Andre

the eye of anyone less familiar with the technicalities of the trade than Mr. Geyer or his foremen.

After the "expert" testimony, the prosecution called a series of witnesses testifying to the events which took place at the Andre ranch on a certain week-end early in June, when it was contended the materials were stolen.

These witnesses consisted of three Fort Ord youths, two of them jailed by Gordon Campbell for perjury, the third serving sentence in a road camp for burglary (a felony); three others, (not serving time) admittedly had blackmailed, threatened or sued Mr. and Mrs. Andre at one time or another.

First army youth to testify, Joseph F. Connor, Jr., changed his story so many times in the witness chair that finally, embarrassed, he choked out: 'Every time I open my mouth I put my foot in it.'

The prosecution's next witness, William Hines, who admitted that after he had been befriended by Mr. Andre—who had housed, fed and employed him after his arrival in Carmel—told of demanding $35 of Andre—because, in his own words, "He didn't pay me, and threatened my life." On cross-examination, it appeared that Hines had been paid regularly, that Mr. Andre had gone out of his way to find Hines more lucrative employment, and that the "threat to my life" was a purported statement by Duke Andre in his final argument with Hines: "You are so —— rotten that one of these days your body will be found in an alley and no one will miss you."

This "dire" threat seemed sufficient reason to Hines to induce him to turn "informer" on his em-

Hines' wife, Mabel, after testifying that she had been employed last September, and during that in the Andre Beauty Shop since whole period had been treated practically as a member of the Andre family, felt in her turn that, because Mrs. Andre had not called her to the telephone on one occasion, was reason enough for her to nourish towards Mrs. Andre as keen a resentment as Hines had for Duke Andre.

The last witness of the disgruntled employee group was one, Merle, who gave a rambling account of a conversation with Andre subsequent to the bringing of the charges. It was brought out in cross-examination that while employed by Andre he had tried to force him to pay a hospital bill for an attack of gall stones—Merle contending that it was a rupture caused by lifting a heavy log on Andre's ranch.

Duke Andre took the stand on Wednesday afternoon in his own defense. His questioning continued Thursday morning under a savage cross examination by Gordon Campbell, who for all his efforts was unable to break down the explanation of the situation offered by Andre.

A few more witnesses for the defense were called who corroborated Andre's story.

In rebuttal, the prosecuting attorney put upon the stand again all the Fort Ord boys, and in addition two or three new witnesses who testified that the prosecution's first witness, Joseph Connor had Thursday morning asked them to come into court to state that they had seen Andre in conversation with Connor subsequent to Connor's incarceration in the guard house.

Prosecutor Gordon Campbell, in summing up spent most of his time in trying to prove that the materials in question had been stolen, a fact which the defense had conceded early in the trial, and the rest of the time in explaining to the jury why it must believe every word the prosecution's witnesses had said.

Defense Attorney Ralph O. Marion made a much shorter summing up, calling attention to the admitted character of several of the prosecution's witnesses, and to the fact that Andre's story had never been broken, and finally instructed the jury that he was about to present a piece of evidence which it could not ignore, to wit, that the sun sank on the evening of June 14th at 7:26 p. m., twilight continuing until along towards nine o'clock; and therefore it was his contention that it would have been impossible for Andre and Connor to have left the house after dark, loaded stolen lumber on to a truck, returned with it to the Andre ranch, unloaded it, and still manage to drive 25 miles to Fort Ord by ten o'clock that evening.

According to the prosecution, the theft took place after dark.

At the time this goes to press no verdict has been given.

There is nothing for children to do in Carmel in the summer.

I think we should have a playground or, better still, a swimming pool at the beach, a seawater pool that would certainly soon pay for itself at 25 cents a swim.

An especial advantage of a pool at the beach would be to keep children from being lured into the dangerous surf.

MRS. NIELS REIMERS Hospitality Chairman, P-T. A.

If only there were some place where my children could learn to swim without having to drown in the ocean.

JANIE OTTO

I'd like to see a properly supervised playground with swimming pool adjoining such as we have to take our children over the hill to Pacific Grove for now. It is a crying need.

The land down by the river mouth would be an excellent location.

MRS. ORLEY HOLM Secretary, La Collecta Club

There's nothing for children to do in Carmel in the summer.

We need some organization to entertain young people of high school age and also a bowling alley or a swimming pool.

MRS. ROBERT ERICKSON

The thing I'd like to see most is a swimming pool for the kids.

VICTOR GRAHAM

I am in favor of having all the policemen wear berets and smocks (reaching somewhere between the hip and knee), using cigaret holders not under six inches long, and wearing velvet trousers of some attractive color.

MRS. E. C. POKLEN

There should be something done about these persons who read their mail in their cars; that is, if they are the drivers of the cars.

I should also like to see the empty lot next to the Post Office utilized as a parking lot.

BILL ADAMS

I'd like to see some of these old !!!!! around town change their dispositions.

MRS. LAWRENCE L. MELROSE

The post office is hideous.

I think Carmel with its artistic tradition deserves something better. We should have a new one

Elizabeth Strong, 86, Beloved Artist, Dies

Elizabeth Strong, 86, beloved artist who first came to Carmel in 1879 when Robert Louis Stevenson was living here, died Wednesday night at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ninole Locan, on Casanova.

A charter member of the Carmel Art Association, she was a friend of Rosa Bonheur and worked with her abroad. Miss Strong returned to San Francisco only to have all her European paintings destroyed in the 1906 fire.

In 1920 she built her home in Carmel-by-the-Sea.

Miss Strong's brother, Joe, meeting Stevenson here on his first trip, later married the writer's step-daughter, Isabel Osbourne, who as Isabel Fields wrote, "This Life I've Loved."

Beside Mrs. Locan, she is survived by two brothers, Mark Strong of Napa and Nathan Strong of Hayward.

The T. O. Dorney Funeral Home is in charge of the services which will be private.

with lots of parking space around it.

HERBERT HERON

I don't think anything should be changed here. Carmel's a swell place.

MRS. G. F. BEARDSLEY

I wouldn't change anything. Carmel will go just as it wants to.

MRS. MILLIE FUNCHESS

I'm afraid I'm one of those comfortable, satisfied people. I'll admit Carmel has lost some of its quaintness, but, no, despite the changes you'll just have to list me as a satisfied customer.

Monks a Wow! But Oddities, My, Oh, My

By DAWN OVERHULSE

Village zombies will be disappointed to learn they will be unable to spend a happy Hallowe'en singing "Auld Lang Syne" with the two mummies in Sam Huston's House of Curioddities, for, keeping a knowing eye on young Carmel, the wise small town Barnum will close his show "in honor of the celebration."

Everyone who attended the ape arcade at Ocean and Junipero, Carmel's first wild animal show, seemed to depart with one opinion; to-wit: "the animals were delightful, but the rest of the show—well, next to my mother-in-law, they were the most horrible things I've ever seen."

The stars, "Cheeta", "Tarzan", chimpanzees, and "Baby Carmel" played their parts well, as did all the living, breathing beasts. However, concerning his sideshow features, his two-headed calves, his human-faced horse, his ge-u-ine boa constrictor, all of which have obviously seen better days, Mr. Huston must soon learn that Carmel still demands for its money, "the mostest of the bestest."

This may be the last day of the Congress of Oddities' stay in Carmel, so if anyone intends to see it again, he'd better hustle. Mr. Huston reports that business has been much better than he expected, but that the rain has done a lot to hamper his trade.

Sonja Henie Stars In "Sun Valley," Musical Film

With new skate and ski surprises in America's glorious vacation land, combined with gay romance, music and fun, "Sun Valley Serenade" will open Sunday for a three-day run at the Carmel theater.

Starring Sonja Henie and John Payne, "Sun Valley Serenade" marks the film debut of the country's number one band, Glenn Miller and his orchestra, in an appearance which will do much to increase the large number of his already enthusiastic fans.

Sonja is featured in new skating and skiing numbers of breathtaking beauty. The amazing skating routine through which she glides with such apparent ease show that her skill has increased since she attained the World and Olympic figure skating championships.

The laugh-provoking story has John Payne awaiting a refugee he has promised to care for. Much to his surprise, the "little" girl is Sonja, who decides to marry him even though he is engaged to Lynn Bari.

Inspired by the life of Mrs. Edna Gladney of Fort Worth, founder of the Texas Children's Home and Aid Society, who has devoted 30 years to child welfare and has found happy homes for more than 2000 babies, "Blossoms in the Dust", starring Greer Garson and Walter Pidgeon, plays Friday and Saturday at the Carmel theater, together with "Forced Landing", with Richard Arlen and J. Carol Naish.

New Beauty Salon In San Carlos Hotel

Redecorated, renovated, staffed with new, experienced operators, the San Carlos Beauty Salon, owned by Gertrude Poff of Carmel, opened last week in the Hotel San Carlos building.

All modern equipment is being used, and the latest hair styles are being arranged with all the fine training and skill necessary for a perfect piece of work.

The Poffs have lived in Carmel for a year or more, and Mrs. Poff hopes to see many of their Carmel friends in her new salon.

Orrin Goan, Pioneer, Noted Executive, Dies

Orrin S. Goan, a popular member of the Carmel community, whose full life began by crossing the country in a covered wagon, died on Tuesday after a two weeks' illness.

Services were held yesterday morning at his home on the Point.

Descended from the earliest settlers of the Susquehanna valley in Pennsylvania, Mr. Goan spent part of his childhood in Oakland, but after their arduous trip across the country the family stayed only a few years, traveling back to Dubuque, Ia., by way of Panama.

Mr. Goan, who held executive positions in many corporations, was treasurer for Warner Brothers Studio and later director of distribution for a national biscuit company. He began his career as paper boy, grocer's assistant and janitor.

He retired in 1926 to travel in Europe and devote his time to a lifelong interest in art. In 1937 Mr. Goan and his wife, the former Helen M. Blackhall of New York City, came to Carmel, where they made scores of friends. They have made their home at Isabella road and Stewart way.

Mr. Goan is survived by his wife, a brother and sister, Harry E. Goan of Los Angeles and Mrs. Elizabeth James Lee of Dubuque; four children, Mrs. Elizabeth G. Crawford, Miss Adelaide Goan, Miss Emily Goan, all of New York City, and P. S. Goan of Billings, Mont. And there are three grandchildren surviving, Bill, Philip and Nancy Goan of Billings.

LEE CROWE EXPECTS TO RETURN BEFORE CHRISTMAS

We have just received word from Lee Crowe, from Cape Elizabeth, Maine, saying that he expects to be back in Carmel in a month or so, and will then have enough time to continue his popular column, "The Crowe's Nest" in The Pine Cone.

Chest Drive on Another Week

Early this week Robert Stanton, president of the Monterey Peninsula Community Chest, stated that due to the fact that there is a long way to go toward fulfilling the minimum budget necessary to take the seven Monterey Peninsula Community Chest agencies through the coming year, the drive would be continued through next week.

Extension of the drive was made in order to allow workers to canvass all of the people on the peninsula, which up to now has been impossible because of the small number of workers and the large area to cover.

President Stanton asked the following cooperation:

1. Please make your contribution at the first visit of the Chest worker to your home or place of business. Most of the time in the present drive has been lost by persons telling the workers, who are giving the time for this work to "come back later."

2. If a worker does not call on you, or has not called by this afternoon, please mail your contribution to the Community Chest, Monterey, or contact offices in any of the peninsula cities.

Molly Murphy Breezes Into Her Home Town

Molly Murphy, Carmel's leading composer and daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Murphy of Hatton Fields, is home from Hollywood looking for a Manx cat.

Molly, as all her old friends in the village know, loves cats. She's had something like two dozen and almost every kind except a Manx. Her last one in Hollywood, a yellow Persian, was poisoned and now, on the theory alley cats last longer, she has two of them to keep her company while she searches for an attractive Manx.

In spite of the choice ingredients it is unusually inexpensive and so filling and delectable you will find you won't want to add dessert.

The meal consists of baked rabbit, ordinary boiled rice, a unique vegetable salad, and coffee.

BAKED RABBIT FOR SIX

Cover the bottom of a baking pan with a layer of salt, and heat until the salt begins to turn brown. Then lay the rabbit on it and brown that. Now line the bottom of a deep baking dish with the tomatoes, lay rabbit over them and sprinkle with mushrooms.

Marshal Timoshenko No. 1 Soldier of the Red Army

Why Have the Russians Held Out So Long? One Vital Reason Is the Training Laid Down by Timoshenko, Defender of Moscow

Shortly after the opening of the Nazi attack on the Soviet Union, the High Command of the Soviet Army was divided into three parts. On July 11, Timoshenko, who until then had been commander-in-chief of the whole Red Army, was appointed to the Western Sector where the Germans were attempting a thrust against Moscow. On July 17, Stalin was appointed as People's Commissar for defense, and Timoshenko also became vice-commander for defense.

Timoshenko, a man of commanding appearance, knows how to command, how to teach, and also how to be a good comrade not only in his relations with his fellow officers, but also with his troops. As a true son of the revolution he has always borne in mind that the U.S.S.R., being a socialist country, might at any time be attacked by other States, and he has accordingly always insisted that maneuvers should bear as close a resemblance to modern war as possible.

Regarding maneuvers, Timoshenko declares:

"The training of the company, the battalion and the regiment, is a basis of the might and strength of an army, and attention should be concentrated on this point. Perfection of army training can be achieved only when each cog in the military machine functions with clock-work precision."

Referring to recent experiences, that, apart from the personal bravery and courage of the men, first-rate training and coordination has been imperative, Timoshenko says:

"Our men and commanders are a brave, splendid lot. They lack nothing when it comes to courage and loyalty to their fatherland. But to these qualities has been added resolute, concrete training in the art of fighting in the complex conditions of modern warfare."

Timoshenko's experience is by no means confined to the Soviet Armies alone. He has been abroad and made close study of armies of other countries. Of this knowledge he has made good use, for it is a matter of principle and convention on the part of the Soviet leaders that, whilst they refuse to be bound by precedent or overawed by the strength or prestige of others, nevertheless, they use all that is best in past theory and practice and apply the experience of others to their own problems; striking out on bold new lines, however, where this is possible and practicable.

Carmel Stages First Real Football Game Today, Everyone Invited!

By HOWARD LEVINSON

Our team is red hot!! This is one of the yell's to be used today at 3:30 p. m., when Carmel High plays Santa Cruz in our first home game in the history of the high school.

Due to the fact that we play a lightweight team, our team is limited to the 150-pounders. That does not allow all of our boys to play. When the team lines up for the kick off, Hugh Gottfried will be at left end; Bill Christerson, left tackle; Bill Huggins, left guard; Jason Harbert, center; Toland Doud, right guard; Bill Wishart, right tackle; Clinton Norman (captain) right end; Milton Thompson, quarterback; Bill Dougherty, right half-back; Don Staniford, left halfback; DeWitt Appleton, fullback.

Clinton Norman will be acting captain for this game. I am sure the team would be fired on to victory if every one would turn out for this, our first home game.

With only two weeks of practice; in its first encounter Carmel, after a hard-fought game, lost to its heavier opponents, Pacific Grove's Breakers, by a score of 7-0.

In the next engagement Carmel faced Hollister and here is where the boys really got under way. After a very exciting game the scoreboard read: Padres 7, Hollister 0.

By this time everyone was rasher up in the air and when they faced Watsonville a week later they were defeated, 13-7.

The most exciting game of the season was the Salinas-Carmel encounter played on the Monterey High field. The game was a hard-fought battle with neither team getting very far on either side of the 50-yard stripe. Suddenly out of the blue, Salinas made a beautiful runback to score in the third quarter. Carmel's fighting spirit was now aroused, but they couldn't seem to make the needed score.

"Bertha" Comes Out of Retirement for Hallowe'en Week-end

"Bertha, the Sewing Machine Girl," emerges from her brief retirement to provide entertainment for the Hallowe'en week-end. She will play tonight, Saturday and Sunday nights in the First Theater, Monterey.

Critics, fans, and visitors agree that "Bertha" tops all previous successes of the always-successful Troupers. The changes in cast which have brought in David Arnold as the scheming villain, David Carson and Robert Doerr as Caleb Carson, the no-less-unscrupulous brother, have given added interest and experienced acting to the show.

Charlotte Wales as the oppressed sewing machine girl continues to do a poignant and convincing bit of acting that has not been equalled in Gold Coast Trouper productions.

A new olio act or so on the regular "Bertha" olio, is daily fare for the Troupers, and rumor has it that Bobbie McMenamin will be down from Cal for the week-end, and that he and Louise Welty will be seen in one of their inimitable dance acts.

Symphony Rehearsal Monday

There will be a rehearsal Monday evening, Nov. 3 at 7:30 of the new Symphony Orchestra, now being formed, at the Salinas High School. Transportation can be arranged if applicants will telephone Mr. Jaffrey Harris of Carmel or Mrs. Franklin Young of Monterey.

Realizing that there are a number of players of all orchestral instruments in Monterey county, a cooperative effort is being made by several well-known musicians of the Peninsula to consolidate the more advanced musicians into a symphony orchestra and develop it to serve the various communities. A start in this direction was made last year by the musicians in charge of the instrumental work in the High Schools. A concert was organized by Franklin Young of Monterey High School, Lorel McCann of Salinas Junior College, Robert Nagler of Pacific Grove High School, Harold Bartlett of the Carmel High School and Keith McKillop of the Salinas High School, and was given in Pacific Grove this spring. Feeling that this nucleus of players could be developed, these musicians decided to invite Jaffrey Harris, well-known conductor, who has recently come to the Peninsula, to become conductor of this growing organization, and to utilize the best players and equipment the county affords, in the formation of what will be known as the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra.

As there is a large group of orchestral players in Salinas, and several players in Gonzales, King City and Watsonville, the plan is to hold rehearsals alternately in the Monterey High School and the Salinas High School, so that the burden of transportation shall not fall too heavily on any one group.

One helpful element in the establishment of such an orchestra is the existence in the several county high schools of a surprisingly fine equipment of instruments, and of an orchestral library of the classics. Thousands of dollars worth of stringed, brass and reed instruments are at hand, and many players have already had considerable training in their use.

It is planned to give at least one concert in each of the larger centers of the county this season. The orchestra as planned will consist of some 50 or more players with a full complement of instruments. An invitation is extended to all players of orchestral instruments in the county, as well as nearby Watsonville, to apply for membership. Applicants may demonstrate their ability to the conductor and the auditions committee at any rehearsal.

HOW DOES YOUR GARDEN GROW?

MRS. ROUNTREE SPEAKS TO CALIFORNIA GARDEN CLUBS

By Helen Clark Cranston, President, Carmel Women's Club California Garden Clubs, Inc., held its 11th semi-annual meeting at Hotel Del Monte last Friday, Saturday and Sunday. With the president, Mrs. Frederick Scatena of Sacramento in the chair, the delegates were welcomed by Mr. Dexter Rogers of Pacific Grove, founder of the State organization in 1930. Following the roll call of delegates, representing 123 clubs, having membership of 5172, Mrs. William O'Donnell, president of the host organization, the Monterey Pennisula Garden Club, and chairman of the session, outlined the program arranged for the guests.

Friday, after dinner, which was in honor of past presidents of the organization, Mrs. Lester Rountree of Carmel Highlands gave an illustrated lecture on "The Collector's Path." Her delightful talk carried us up to mountain meadows, along rocky and sandy shores, and down into Mexico where an American woman, traveling off the beaten paths with only a burro for company, may be a complete puzzle to the natives at first but is soon accepted in a friendly spirit.

Support Army Planting Plan
Mrs. Scatena's semi-annual message urged that every effort be made to increase the membership of the state organization and the circulation of the organization's publication, "Golden Gardens"; also that each club endeavor to promote nature study in the public schools curricula; that roadside improvement be encouraged by the planting of trees; and that the organization give support to the Red Cross planting plan for Army cantonments.

In connection with the final recommendation the corresponding secretary, Mrs. O. N. Hirst, read a letter from the Garden Clubs of America offering to cooperate in the planting plan of the Red Cross which has the approval of the United States government. Mrs. Scatena announced that the board of directors had voted to give full support to the measure which would provide for the beautification of the vicinity of Red Cross buildings on Army posts. Each garden club will have its own committee and the chairman of the state committee is Mrs. W. Palmer Fuller of Hillsborough, assisted by Mrs. Henry Potter Russell.

Visit Noted Local Gardens
On Friday afternoon the delegates were entertained by a lecture on flower arrangements, accompanied by colored slides, given by Mrs. C. P. McCullough. Some of the arrangements were large and some miniature, but all very lovely. Later Mrs. T. Eric Reynolds of Piedmont gave an informative and humorous talk on "Birds in the Garden" as she showed motion pictures taken in her own garden of the domestic lives of some finches, towhees, etc.

Following this the visitors were taken on a tour of some beautiful Pebble Beach gardens, including those of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Orick, Louis W. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. William Garand, and Mrs. Martha Newcome, where refreshments were served.

Following a business meeting in the morning, luncheon on Saturday, in the main dining-room of Hotel Del Monte, was in honor of Miss Alice Eastwood, curator of botany in the California Academy of Sciences, Golden Gate Park. Miss Eastwood's 82 years rest lightly upon her and she spoke with wit and zest of pioneering in botany 50 and 60 years ago. A new building to house the Alice Eastwood Herbarium, the best of its kind in California, if not in the entire country, is a project for which the Garden Clubs, Inc., is working. It is interesting to know that if one wants to learn the identity of a plant or flower, one may just send a scrap of leaf or flower in an envelope, enclosing a return self-addressed postal card, to Miss Eastwood at the Academy of Sciences, Golden Gate Park, San Francisco.

Later in the afternoon Miss Emma Bee Mundy, chairman of the science department of Pasadena Junior College, spoke on California wild flowers, her talk illustrated by natural colored slides, the work of Lena Scott Harris. This was followed by a tour of historic Monterey, with stops at several houses and at the First Theater where several olio numbers were given by Troupers of the Gold Coast with Bob Bratt emceeing. Refreshments were served over the old bar by Lester Hartigan.

Redwood Giants Doomed
Saturday evening Dr. Herbert L. Mason, associate professor of botany at the University of California and curator of the herbarium, gave a talk on "The History and Migration of California Forests." From this very interesting lecture we learned that the giant redwood is doomed to extinction because it has pushed itself into a trap along the northwestern coast of our country. A lover of damp, cool climate, it cannot go south nor east because of increasingly aridity there, and to the north is the ice cap and to the west the ocean. Dr. Mason further pointed out that alternating aridity and cold seem to stimulate periods of rapid evolution in plants, and that we are now going through one of the most important times. All over the areas of the earth grass lands are taking the place of forests.

Following Dr. Mason's talk slips of paper were passed around on which questions were written by those present and the slips were turned over to Professor Harry M. Butterworth, of the University of California horticulture department who gave answers out of his immense fund of botanical knowledge.

On Sunday morning there was a tour of gardens on Monterey Mesa, including those of Colonel and Mrs. Fitch, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Ross and Mr. and Mrs. George Decker, followed by a visit to the gardens at Marsh's Oriental Arts Shop on El Estero.

This semi-annual meeting was very delightful and instructive, and credit for its success should be given to Mrs. William O'Donnell, chairman of the Ninth District committee, who gave many hours of hard work in preparation for it.

DID YOU KNOW SEEDLING ANEMONES ARE EASIER?

By Mrs. James D. Bishop
Practical Gardening Expert

October being "clean-up month" in the garden, I hope you have completed that work and are ready to put in your plants for winter and spring bloom. Foundation is important, good rich soil and the right location—plus care—mean a beautiful garden.

Besides the many annuals to be planted for both show and cutting during the winter, it is well to look ahead and plan your spring show of perennials. These should go in now to make large clumps and give early spring bloom. Most popular are: delphinium, thalictrum, columbine, hollyhocks, digitalis (foxgloves), dianthus (sweet William and border pinks), iceland poppies, primula veris (English primrose), and the biennial campanula calycanthema (Canterbury bells.) Also ready to go in the ground now, cheaper and less trouble than the bulbs, are seedlings ranunculus and anemones.

Your nurseryman will be glad to advise you on your garden problems. Take advantage of his service and of this first rain which has helped prepare the way to make your garden the "best ever" for the coming season.

Eye Ease

for All the family too!

Mother's fingers work so easily sewing, darning or mending, but are her eyes having an easy time too? Scientific sight-light research shows it takes ten times more light for sewing than reading a book. See that Mother has a Better Lamp for Easier Sewing.

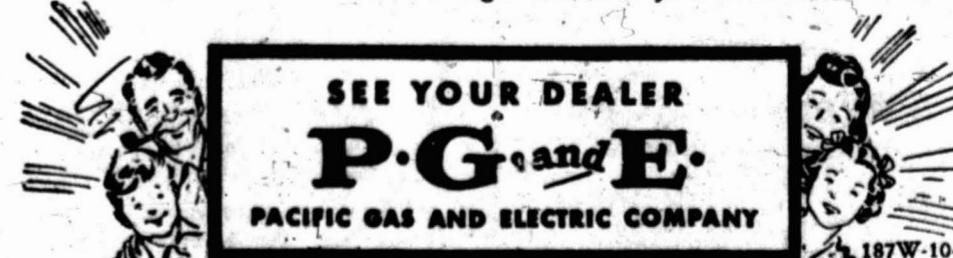

Concentrated eye effort, like Big Sister must use at her piano practice or daily study assignment, demands she have the right kind and the right amount of light to prevent the wearisome let-down of brain fog. One of the new swivel-armed floor lamps will provide Better Light for Easier Concentration.

Give the young man in the home a man's sized study lamp for his desk or table and note the difference in his study attitude. A Better Light study lamp sits up tall and straight and spreads light generously over books and papers. Better Light for Better Study saves young eyes and improves school grades.

A plentiful supply of smart and attractive lamps is now available. Prices are low, too. This is the time to Light Condition your home at low cost.

CONVERSATION MEETING MONDAY IN DE LOES

Conditional
The conditional is used to denote result dependent on condition, that is, what would happen in case something else were to happen.

Conditional of avoir:
j'aurais (I should have) tu auras
il aurait
nous aurions
vous auriez
ils auraient

Conditional of être:
je serais
tu serais

vous seriez

Examples of the use of the conditional:

J'aurais de l'argent s'il venait

Je serais content s'il aimait (I should be glad if he loved)

Conditional anterior—j'aurais eu, etc. (I should have had) j'aurais été, etc. (I should have been)

Use of the conditional anterior is parallel with that of the conditional. It denotes what would have happened:

Je serais parti s'il était venu
(I should have gone had he come)

Vous aurez de l'argent de ton cousin? (You will have money from your cousin?)

Poetry Magazine Being Reorganized

Carmel poetry lovers will be interested to know that the closing of the late Harriet Monroe's estate has required a reorganization of the magazine POETRY, a magazine of Verse.

Poetry, now in its 30th year, will become a non-profit corporation in Illinois, and an effort is being made to create a trust fund that will give it permanent security.

Readers of this famous little magazine are urged to take out a "supporting subscription" if possible, or to influence their friends to do so, towards securing now and for the future a medium that has done more than almost any other publication to encourage fine poetry in this country.

P-T. A. MOTHERS TO LAY JUICY BAIT TUESDAY AS TRAP FOR FATHERS

Father's Day may be in June but in Carmel, Father's Night this year falls on the evening of Nov. 4.

In Sunset auditorium at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, Nelson B. Sewall of Salinas Junior High School will speak under auspices of the Carmel P-T. A. on "Characteristics of Adolescence." It is a program arranged by mothers of the P-T. A. to interest Carmel fathers.

An able speaker with a broad understanding of youth, Sewall will answer questions at the conclusion of his talk.

Miss Ann Barrows will sing and so will a group of Sunset students under direction of Miss Mima Williamson. Refreshments and a social hour will follow the meeting.

Mrs. Guy Koepp, program chairman, promises much of interest for future programs. She has secured the cooperation of Andrew C. Love, head of the education department of the National Broadcasting Company in Hollywood, for the work of the Carmel P-T. A. and has the assurance that either he or a well known assistant will come here to speak soon.

Fond Farewell to Eric Coster

Carmel Post No. 512 of the American Legion will hold its regular monthly meeting on Monday evening, at 8:15 p.m., at the club house on Dolores street.

Lewis Hayd Leve, adjutant of the 18th District of the Department of California, will be speaker of the evening, talking on the subject of subversive activities of the Axis powers. Mr. Leve is thoroughly informed on his subject and will relate startling incidents and examples of the work of fifth columnists which rarely come to the public notice.

For the past year Eric Coster has been staff correspondent for the San Francisco Examiner, covering activities at Fort Ord. Now he will work in the city on special assignments as member of the Examiner's editorial department. It is good to know that his name will continue to appear in that paper regularly.

Born in Arklow, County Wicklow, Ireland, in 1911, Eric came to this country in 1928. He worked for several years in San Francisco on both the Examiner and Chronicle, spent a short vacation in his home land, and arrived on the Monterey Peninsula in 1934 where, until last year—with the exception of 1937 spent in the publicity department of 20th-Century Fox, Hollywood—he was a familiar figure in the press bureau of Hotel Del Monte.

Here for Two Weeks—

Trying to escape from a bad case of flu is John Short, who came down from San Francisco a week ago to get well at his home.

Celebrity Week—

At Del Monte Lodge there's quite a roster of screen notables, among them Mr. and Mrs. Brian Aherne (Jean Fontaine), Mr. and Mrs. Edward Arnold and Mr. and Mrs. William Powell, all here for indefinite periods.

Modern Art Enthusiasts—

Students of the Carmel Art Institute are exhibiting their work done under Fernand Leger, in the Salinas Jr. College Art Gallery. The show, which was formally opened by a tea last Thursday, will continue on for a short while. All paintings are modern in the exhibit, and on opening day John Cunningham, director of the Art Institute, gave a lecture on modern art, to a record-attending audience of Salinas townspeople.

Flavin in East—

Tending to business in New York City, Martin Flavin, who flew east a short while ago, plans to return soon.

Mrs. Tibbet Entertained—

Whenever Lawrence Tibbett sings in San Francisco, his wife drops in on her friends here in Carmel. Mrs. Estelle Monteagle entertained Mrs. Tibbet at her home in Pebble Beach over the week-end. On Saturday afternoon many friends came in for tea, followed by supper and dancing at the Bali Room. Mrs. Tibbet joined her famous husband in the city Monday.

Newcomers—

About to make their home in Carmel are honeymooners Mr. and Mrs. Byron Broderick, who were married last Saturday. Following a quiet wedding in the home of the bride's parents, the couple left for Boyes Springs before coming to Carmel to settle down. Mrs. Broderick is the former Miss Mary Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parker, of Berkeley, and Mr. Broderick is the son of Mrs. Mary Broderick, also of Berkeley. The couple are honeymooning at Sonoma Mission Inn.

Mrs. Robert Lyons (known to us as Jean Emanuel) stopped in Carmel on her way to Santa Cruz. (Mrs. Lyons only whispered to a few of her dearest friends that she was infanticipating).

Silver Sky and Pale-Gold Stars—

It's still an unfinished symphony, but when Paul Mayes finishes the mural in his Hatton Fields home, he's going to throw a tea party, for all of his friends to see the new panel;—and something new it will be;—just imagine a blue horse, flying across a silver sky dotted with pale gold stars! Yes, that's what Paul has up his sleeve, and he's all excited about it.

Sally Roberts to Wed—

Dr. and Mrs. Harry Clayton Rogers of San Francisco announce the engagement of their daughter, Sally, of Carmel, to Ensign John Douglas Campbell.

John is at present located in Corpus Cristi, Tex., as an instructor at the Naval Air Base.

The bride-elect, a former Kansas City woman who has been living in Carmel for about two years with her sister and brother-in-law, Mrs. Alton H. Walker and Mr. Walker, is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin where she was a member of the Alpha Omicron Pi sorority. Sally is now secretary to J. E. Abernethy, manager of the Monterey County Trust & Savings Bank, Carmel Branch.

Her fiance, who has lived on the peninsula almost all his life, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Argyll Campbell of Carmel and Monterey, and the brother of Gordon and Doris Campbell. He received his degree from Stanford University and is a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon Fraternity.

The marriage will take place in the late spring, plans having been completed when John was in Carmel on a recent leave.

Yuletide in Honolulu—

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Cockburn have been spending several days in Carmel. In about two weeks the Cockburns plan to sail for Honolulu to spend Christmas with their daughter, Evelyn. Their trip will take them away for two months.

Rev. O'Connell in East—

The Rev. Michael O'Connell is touring around the eastern states, having a well-earned vacation. Traveling by train, Rev. O'Connell will return from his three-week sojourn in about five or six days. Taking his place at the Carmel Mission is Father Finn, great organist and composer.

Paul and Paula Dougherty went to San Francisco, to hear Grace Moore sing in "Love of Three Kings."

Soldiers Sup Sunday—

Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Grace Howden entertained four soldier boys of the 147th Field Artillery, and a small group of her friends. Before the gathering, which took place at Mrs. Howden's hill-top home, the boys were driven around the peninsula to have a look at Point Lobos and the Drive. A delightful supper party and musical evening followed, and was enjoyed by Ord-men George Giesen, Fred Kessler, Paul Jacobson and Leon Scobie. Other guests were Dr. and Mrs. James Crowther, Miss Margaret S. Lea, Gaby Wilson, the John Burrs, Miss Nancie Spencer,

Almost Well—

Kate Vosberg is recuperating from a severe case of pneumonia which took her to the hospital several weeks back. She is home now, and will soon be up kicking. Best of luck and a quick recovery, Katy.

Once when Paderewski played before Queen Victoria the sovereign exclaimed with enthusiasm, "Mr. Paderewski, you are a genius!" "Ah, your Majesty," he replied, "Perhaps; but before I was a genius I was a drudge."

This little anecdote illustrates one of the great truths of life—that success and achievement don't just happen. Those who achieve have years of grueling work behind them. They have had to make many sacrifices that you and I never hear about. . . And today, as patriotic Americans, we must make sacrifices and keep our eyes steadfastly on our goal, if we are to prevent the achievements of all past years from being swept away by the dark forces of evil. In years to come free men everywhere will thank us for our efforts today. One of the best constructive works we can undertake in these difficult days is to join the efforts of BUNDLES FOR BRITAIN—help send warmth and practical, necessary comforts to bolster up the morale of the British in their struggle for freedom. Get in touch with your local BUNDLES FOR BRITAIN branch at Dolores and Seventh, phone 1848.

Mike Fright—

Eddie George had what he called a "Mike Fright" party at his home on Franklin street in Monterey last Saturday night. It started with a supper at 6:30, followed by a rehearsal of "Ladies in Retirement", which will go on at the Playhouse Nov. 13, and ended with the recording of three scenes from the play. Without exception, the cast showed slight signs of fear at the sight of the microphone. The result of the recordings when played back was immoderate laughter and a lot of self-criticism, which was Director Virginia Marshall's canny reason for making the recordings. Present were: Mr. and Mrs. Dick Boone, (he is in the play), Mr. and Mrs. Dan Welty, Lt. and Mrs. Mott Duncan, Agnes Fraser, Reynard Anderson, Sergeant John Howard and Hildreth Hodgson.

Happy Day for Smiths—

Sunday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. E. Frederick Smith were spending a quiet day, with three soldiers from Fort Ord, whom they had asked to be their supper guests, when exciting news came by telegram. Their Navy son, E. Fred Jr., had less than 24 hours leave, and was flying from Los Angeles to spend a few hours with his parents. Of course all plans were discarded, as the Smiths left immediately for the Monterey Airport, to meet Fred, who hadn't been home for a year.

Fred is with the Flag Radio Division on the U. S. S. California, which just returned from Hawaii. He has been in the Navy two and a half years, and is supervisor over 20 men.

Sunday, Mrs. Smith and Fred Jr. drove to Oakland, so he could catch the 2:30 plane back to Burbank, to be on duty at 8:30 Monday morning.

At Christmas time she and her daughter, Constance, a student at the University of California, will join Mr. Potter in Washington. After the holidays, Constance will return to finish her college year.

Emma Evans Pupils Give Recital

About 90 guests attended Emma Evans' Student recital, Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Perry W. Reel in Carmel Woods. Hal Garrott's "Twilight", a new composition to Carmel listeners, was beautifully played by Judith McMahon. Among those who served refreshments after the music were Mrs. Roy Warner, Mrs. L. Louis, Mrs. J. D. Thorn, Jr., and Mrs. Reel. Students who played compositions on the piano Sunday were: Louis Rudolph, Dick Rohr, Jimmie Hare, David Warfield, Don Lare and Jere Cummings, Judith McMahon, Alice Christerson, Doris Evans, Joanne Thorn, Mary Jean Mathews, Diane and Doris Lewis, Kathleen McAulay, Claire Warner, Jeanette and Mary Jane Reel, Tatiana Sersn, Carol Ann Smith, Elizabeth Croad, Dorothy Mack, Charlotte Enslow and Donalee Paul.

Emergency Registrations to be Taken—

All over the State of California emergency registrations will be during the month of November taken by Parent-Teacher members. In Carmel, Tuesday, Nov. 4, at the regular P.-T. A. meeting, cards will be issued. Mrs. E. Frederick Smith, president of the 20th District of Monterey and Santa Cruz, reports that all units in the district are preparing to take this registration in November.

The questionnaire cards will be used to record the qualifications for caring for groups of children in any emergency—such phases as: ability to feed, clothe and lead recreation, will be covered, as well as first aid, nursing and other types of service concerned with the welfare of children.

The registration cards will not be a duplication of those given already by the USO and Home Defense. The information compiled will be kept on file locally, to be used not only in the time of emergency due to invading forces, but also in the event of disaster from natural causes, such as flood, fire or earthquake.

Former Harriette Holt Wedded—

Lieut. and Mrs. Orville William Shelton were honeymooning here last week, following their wedding Saturday in Stockton, at the home of the bride's parents. The bride, a former Douglas School girl, is the daughter of Mrs. Pliny Holt. The couple will make their home in Atascadero.

Mrs. Elmira Roberts, coordinator of the Women's Auxiliary Group, spoke on the activities of the newly-formed body of the Civilian Defense program, outlining the proposed plans and duties for peninsula women.

Princess Jezebel

Attention all Carmelites with an eye for feminine pulchritude! Princess Jezebel is at Rene's. You can see her through the window. You can see her from the door. You can walk right up to her and say, "Hello!" if you're brave enough to go inside.

She is lissome in her chiffon nightie, and there's a blush upon her cheeks. If she doesn't capture you completely with her charms, we'll miss our guess, even though she has only got three teeth.

You'll find all sorts of wonderful, entrancing things at Rene's—besides charming Rene herself and her provocative assistant, Sue Shallcross. They're planning something warm and spicy and stimulating for Christmas time—a wassail bowl, for all their friends.

Think of how appropriate for Carmel — wassailing among the panties!

FINAL SERVICES HELD FOR JEANETTE ANDREWS

Funeral services were held in St. John's chapel, Del Monte, last Friday, for Mrs. Jeanette Andrews, wife of Major Edward Andrews, and sister of Don McFadden of the Carmel Mission Ranch Club.

Mrs. Andrews had lived in Carmel for seven months, having been married here only last spring.

In ancient Egypt, floor coverings were used to adorn palaces of the Pharaohs. In the Museum at Cairo such carpets (dating from 1480 B. C.), were of linen interwoven with colored wools in a tapestry-weaving manner rather than of tufted or piled textures.

Facility of execution and liveliness of color characterize the most complete line of floor-coverings in Northern California. These range all the way from the utility of Kleerflax rugs to the custom-made, hand-woven pile carpets patiently fashioned by the cottagers of England and Ireland.

blade that the poet now accepts. Briefly, in "The Bowl of Blood", Adolph Hitler calls forth the spirits of the great dead and converses with them. Tamar Cauldwell appears in "Come Little Birds."

Among the finest lines are those which end "Battle", written May 28, 1940:

"And why do you cry, my dear,
why do you cry?

It is all in the whirling circles of time.

If millions are born millions will die;

In bed or in battle is no great matter

In the long orbits of time.

If England goes down and Ger-

All in the turning of time.

If civilization goes down—that
Would be an event to contemplate.

It will not be in our time, alas, my

It will not be in our time."

No comment upon Robinson Jeffers' poetry can mean very much, unless those who recognize its power and refuse to let it pass with mere adjectives of praise, take this new Jeffers book to the open hearth.—Peter Wolff.

War, real estate booms and bright lights may come and go, but Carmel's artists apparently go on forever. Above is a recent photograph of a class from the Art Institute painting out on Midway Point, while below is the reproduction of a typical Carmel artist's (Ida Haynard Curtis) oil painting of Carmel cypress.

AMERICAN ART WEEK, NOV. 1 TO 7, FINDS CARMEL ARTISTS, OLD AND NEW, WORKING HARD AS EVER

By ELIZABETH PAYNE
OLD CARMEL

Twenty-two years ago a small woman with a strong purpose came to Carmel to paint.

She is typical of the artists of the old Carmel colony, this white-haired, bright-eyed Ida Maynard Curtis, who paints every day and who still, after 22 years, finds new inspiration in the Carmel landscape.

And Ida Maynard Curtis, who lives near the ocean in a tucked-away cottage on Santa Lucia, belongs to the American Artists Professional League, which originated American Art Week that is designed to increase interest in American artists' work and especially the establishment of young artists. Miss Curtis, representing all that is finest and most generous in the true artist and perhaps remembering her early years, graciously and willingly holds out a helping hand to the beginner of today.

She herself is at present exhibiting in New York, San Diego and Los Angeles. She has held many a one-man show on both coasts. In Paris once she was invited to exhibit, too, but the day she had expected to take her pictures to the gallery—the last day—she fainted dead away for the first time in her life and the pictures never got there.

Painting for Miss Curtis began as an avocation. She thought she was a scientist. Graduating from Cornell and specializing in chemistry at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, she taught mathematics and general science in Boston high schools and at the same time planned the art program for the city school system.

Her hobby of painting, however, gradually sucked up her entire interest. She studied with Maynard in Paris, she learned the principles of design and aesthetics from Denman Ross of Harvard and from Charles Hawthorne she gained her brilliant understanding of color. Miss Curtis has never ceased to study. When a famed modern artist came to Carmel, she worked with him, hoping to fuse his theories with the academic, but she found that modern artist had nothing new to offer.

Miss Curtis has painted from Norway to Tangier and throughout this country and yet she finds Carmel embodies more kinds of beauty — ocean, woods, peaceful valley, swamps, than any other spot.

"Rugged Cypress", by Ida Maynard Curtis, student of Denman Ross, who, painting here 22 years, finds Carmel offers more varied subjects than any place in Europe.

And so every morning this white-haired little woman sets out into our landscape every morning with palette, brushes and olive metal box, as do many score of other Carmel artists and as painters in this village have been doing for 40 years.

William Ritschel, one of our most distinguished painters, is another of the early colony who still paints here and so are these others — M. DeNeale Morgan, one of the first; William Watts, Eva Belle Adams, Alice B. Comins, Ada Belle Champlin, C. Chapel Judson, Laura Maxwell, Catherine Comstock and George Seideneck, William P. Silva, Elizabeth Strong, Paul Mays, John O'Shea, George Kotch, Ferdinand Burgdorff.

TURKEY SHOOT IN THE HIGHLANDS

The Carmel Highlands Fire Department held a turkey shoot last Sunday which was attended by Mayor Keith Evans and his wife and several other Carmelites who were excellent marksmen and devoted to this sport.

It looked as though Carmel would seize the honors, when all at once the Gonzales Rifle Club arrived in force—toggied up in shooting jackets, eyes glinting, trigger fingers itching—and not only took most of the prizes but the turkeys.

It was a lovely afternoon.

NEW CARMEL

Muriel Pulitzer, who is barely 21 and who, working by herself at her delicate, imaginative figurines, has developed her own style, is representative of Carmel's new artists.

Roger Burnham saw her work a year ago and told her not to study, that her technique was sound and that study would spoil her originality.

Tomorrow Muriel will complete her work for her first one-man show by sending four clay figures off to Berkeley to be fired. The exhibition will be held the first of the year in Los Angeles with some 25 red and pale yellow terra cotta figures on view. One is a madonna and child beautifully executed in both colors. The figures range in size from five inches to 20. Most are reposeful and all are infinitely graceful.

Muriel uses a rare clay, especially grounds in Berkeley, which is almost identical to that the ancient Greeks used in the Tanagra figurines. Muriel is not only her own teacher: she is almost alone these days in the practice of her particular type of art.

Palmer Beaudette to Wed Cobina Monday

Corporal Palmer Beaudette, one-time publisher of the Carmel Californian which was bought by The Pine Cone, is going right ahead and marrying Cobina Wright Jr., despite the yards of denials issued by Cobina Sr. when it was announced.

The wedding is to take place Monday at the Riverside Church in New York City.

Three Carmel Artists Exhibit in S. F. Show

Carmel artists William Ritschel, Paul Dougherty and Arthur Hill Gilbert, will all exhibit oils in the Sanity in Art, Inc., show opening tomorrow at the Palace of the Legion of Honor, San Francisco.

The exhibition will continue until Jan. 4.

A Message to You

ships, cruisers, destroyers . . . more than the crews that man them. It's a far-flung network of land bases for ships and planes . . . for tankers, transports and hospital ships. It's dry docks, wharves, machine shops, ramps, anchorages, barracks, fuel tanks. It's a vast fleet of merchant ships carrying supplies throughout the world. It's a great system of factories, steel mills, arsenals, ordnance depots. It's air power . . . with thousands of pilots and ten times as many skilled mechanics to keep 'em flying. It's more than a score of the finest training schools in the world.

Beginning this week, the Navy plans for a limited time to accept new qualified men between the ages of 17 and 50. These men must be of more than average intelligence and ambition, of fine moral character and must have the written recommendation of at least two local townspeople. There must be many such men in Carmel who would be interested.

The Pine Cone has just received from Washington a supply of free illustrated booklets for all who may want them, and in addition will welcome inquiries from young men who wish to look into the new and greater opportunities the Navy now offers.

After Hovering Three Months, Greer Garson Alights in Our Midst

Unable to withstand the charms of Carmel any longer, red-haired Greer Garson, of motion picture fame, in the manner of many a "casual" visitor, has taken an important real estate step, and is now the beamish owner of the former Frank C. Stratford home on Sonada road in Pebble Beach.

The house has a favorable hilltop site, and commands a panoramic view of Carmel at its best; from the farthest tip of Point Lobos to the long western horizon.

Transactions were carried on through Del Monte Properties Company. Miss Garson, and her mother, along with Gogo and Clquot, Miss Garson's two white French poodles, have been in Carmel off and on for the past three months.

LOW FLOORS MEAN CHANGING OVERALLS

Bernard Rowntree, efficient assistant secretary of Carmel Sanitary District, devoted councilman and able police commissioner, complained Wednesday evening at the meeting of the local Sanitary Board that he has to change his overalls many times because of the damp necessity of inspecting plumbing under houses built too close to the ground. He proposes quite reasonably — that there should be a ruling to require all lower floors to be constructed at least 24 inches above ground, according to FHA standards.

"TWO ENDS TO SHOESTRING" AUTHOR POPS INTO TOWN

Katherine Pinkerton, author of the new "Two Ends to Our Shoestring", dropped into the Village Book Shop this week and autographed some of her books.

She stopped off on her way from San Francisco to Hollywood and is staying for several days to visit an old friend, Samuel G. Blythe. Soon she plans to start on a new book, one for young people which will be a companion volume to her "Adventure North".

High School Notes

STEEL!

The otherwise peaceful study halls are interrupted these days because of the din and the clatter of huge steel girders (steel that European nations are crying for) which are rapidly being fitted together on the building of the structure to contain our new gym.

Study halls will have to carry on amid the confusion, gym classes will have to play on a smaller field, and the musicians will have to overpower the riveters, for the new gym must go up.

—Robert Bennett.

There's a Puzzle Prize—So Hurry

A prize of two Pine Cone subscriptions will be given to the first person to bring into the office their solution of Lady Kinno's second Anglo-English Cross-Word, which appeared in last week's Pine Cone.

There were three typographical errors, we are sorry to say, in the puzzle: in No. 36 across "essentials" should be singular and in No. 70 down it should be "will do." The three letters, "sad" on the puzzle plan should be ignored.

Henry Varnum Poor Is Expected for Winter

Rumor, so swift and usually sure in Carmel, says Henry Varnum Poor, one of the country's most noted artists, will come here for the winter.

His friends among Carmel artists include his fellow National Academicians, William Ritschel, Paul Dougherty, and Armin Hansen.

METROPOLITAN OPERA STAR TO SING HERE SOON—

Saturday, Nov. 8, the Carmel Music Society will present Lotte Lehmann, outstanding Metropolitan soprano.

Prior to Miss Lehmann's introduction in this country, she was a great favorite throughout Europe, and in England. The governments of half a dozen countries have honored her with awards and medals. Her appearance in Carmel should not be missed by any real lover of music.

W. A. CAMPBELL AWARDED MEDAL AT PURDUE

At the first Cadet Officers' Smoker of the year, the Military Department of Purdue University awarded medals to the best students of the Advanced Military Course. Among the several young men honored was W. A. Campbell of Carmel who received a bronze medal as one of three students standing highest in their class at the close of the summer ROTC Camp.

NO MORE PUDDLES—AT LEAST NOT SO MANY

Well, there won't be any more puddles on the way to Sunset school—at least not so many.

Bill Askew, superintendent of streets, says the new sidewalk on San Carlos beside the school, that used to go under water with the first rain, will be finished in two weeks. It will be surfaced with an oil mix and have a stone curb.

ALVIN FAM GLAD TO BE HOME AGAIN

Plucky young Alvin Fam, five-year-old son of the popular recruiting officer at our post office, Chief Electrician's Mate A. Fam, U. S. N., was sufficiently recovered from his unfortunate accident on Oct. 9 to be able to leave Park Lane hospital in Salinas last Saturday. However his leg, crushed under an automobile, will be in a cast for several months.
